

TAKE ACTION FOR IMMIGRANT RIGHTS

We are grateful that community members are interested in supporting immigrants at this critical time.

Become a translator or interpreter. If you are multi-lingual, we would love to hear from you. Please visit nwirp.org/join-us/volunteer to send us your contact information. We seek volunteers who can both interpret conversations with clients and help translate written materials. Please note that your name will be added to our interpreter list but that you will not be contacted directly until our staff has a need for help in your language of expertise.

Take on a pro bono immigration case. NWIRP directly represents many clients in legal proceedings, but the demand for services is greater than our staff can address. A person's likelihood of avoiding removal from the U.S. is highly dependent on whether or not they have legal representation. If you or someone you know is in the legal profession and might be able to assist in taking a pro bono case, please contact Jordan Wasserman, our pro bono coordinating attorney, at jordan@nwirp.org.

Join the immigrant rights movement. AIDNW assists immigrants both in the Tacoma Detention Center and upon their release through comprehensive volunteer coordination. aidnw.org/volunteer. La Resistencia organizes rallies, protests, and events in support of ending immigration detention and raising awareness about the conditions at the Tacoma Detention Center. laresistencianw.org/take-action. Learn about events, trainings, and other opportunities to support immigrant communities at nwirp.org/news-events/events, or by joining NWIRP's mailing list. nwirp.org/join/mailling-list. Washington Immigrant Solidarity Network (WAISN) formed as a coalition of groups and individuals to support immigrant communities across the state, and hosts a community defense hotline 1-844-724-3737, a resource finder, and the Fair Fight Bond Fund. waisn.org/updatesignup.

Learn more about the immigration detention system in the United States. The Detention Watch Network has a robust collection of resources on the history and impact of immigration detention in the United States. Learn more at detentionwatchnetwork.org about the practice of incarcerating immigrants while they await a determination of their immigration status or potential deportation.

Learn about the racist history of immigration law in the United States. Throughout history, racism has influenced United States immigration law. Learn more about this country's history of racist immigration policy with this guide from the ACLU of Washington at aclu.org/issues/immigrants-rights.

Educate yourself about your rights, and the rights of others. NWIRP maintains a catalogue of recorded trainings covering many subjects including 'Know Your Rights' trainings, safety planning webinars, and more. nwirp.org/news-events/events/webinars.
